

GIS can model real-world phenomena with points, lines and areas (polygons).

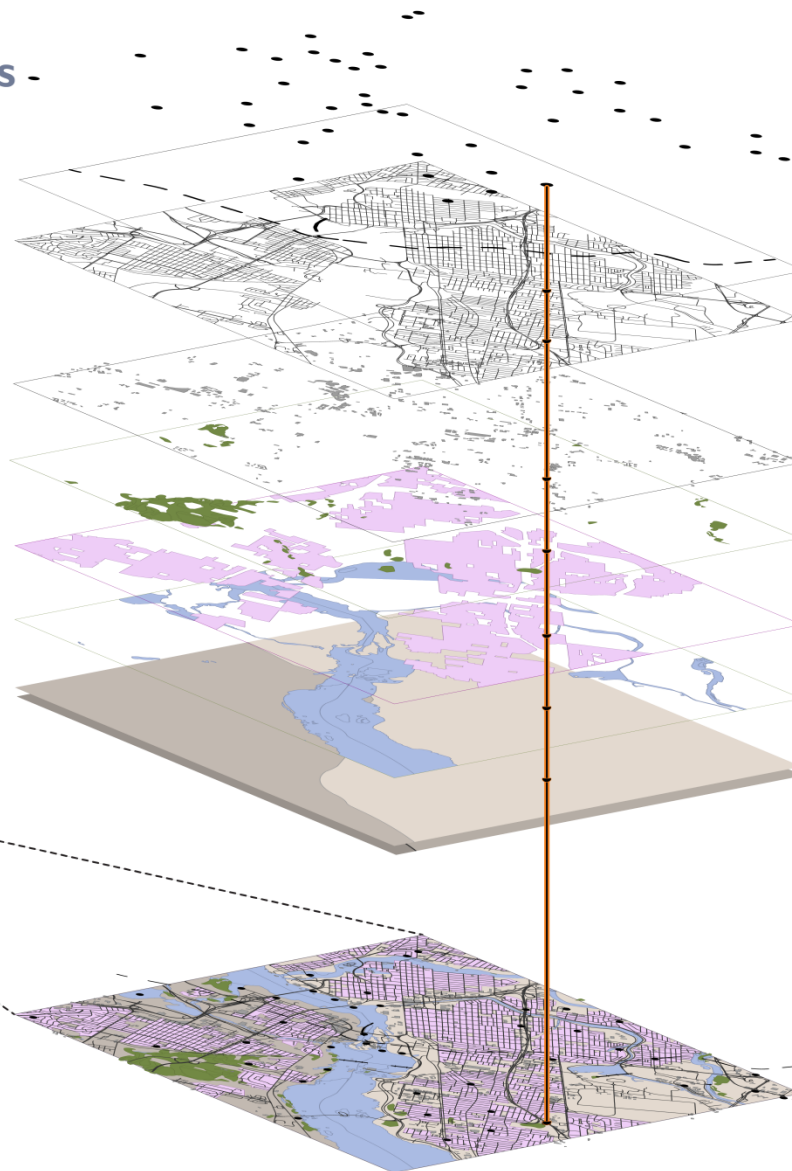

Spatial relationships can be explored with layers of geographic data.

POINTS -

LINES

POLYGONS

Locations

Rail

Roads

Buildings

Vegetation

Residential

Water

Provinces

MAP

GIS
LAYERS